

New Investigators Grant Writing Institute

http://www.research.vcu.edu/vpr/grant_writing/index.htm

The Virginia Commonwealth University New Investigators Grant Writing Institute provides year-long, intensive proposal development training to VCU faculty who will apply for extramural funding within 12 months. The program focuses on building fundamental skills in proposal development and interdisciplinary communication – both of which are critical to competitive grantsmanship. It is expected that participants will also learn about conducting science across the spectrum of disciplines, and come to a better understanding of how to work collaboratively. Grant Writing Institutes are funded and coordinated by the VCU Office of the Vice President for Research and Innovation.

2014-2015 Grant Writing Institute Cohort

Dr. Rowena Briones
Richard T. Robertson School of Media and Culture

Dr. Nao Hagiwara
Department of Psychology

Dr. Saltanat Liebert
Department of Public Administration

Dr. Cheng Ly
Department of Statistical
Sciences & Operations Research

Dr. Ryan Patton
Department of Art Education

Dr. Elizabeth Prom-Wormley
Department of Family Medicine and Population Health

Dr. Yongjia Song
Department of Statistical
Sciences & Operations Research

Dr. Amy Rector Verrelli
School of World Studies

Dr. Traci Wike
School of Social Work

Dr. Woon-Hong Yeo
Department of Mechanical and Nuclear Engineering